

SELLING POINTS

- The history of football as seen through the most unknown to the most emblematic clubs
- For the first time the “little” clubs have pride of place
- A fun and informative iconography
- An author who is expert on the subject
- An attractive price

SPECIFICATIONS

Format 170 x 230 mm
Number of pages 320 pp
Approx. 60,000 words
Price 20 €

1001 football clubs

The bible of football jerseys

A football club is a history, a jersey, a color, a crest, a motto, a song, prizes, victories, defeats, legendary names, like so many lights that shape the memories and the life of a supporter. A football club is a family, a culture, a lifestyle, a religion which turns the stadium into a sacred place of communion. Continent by continent, country by country, this book will open the doors to 1,001 clubs from around the world and reveal the particular identity of each, the one that means you never quit your beloved club, your club for always.

THE AUTHOR

Jean Damien Lesay

Journalist and writer, Jean Damien Lesay is the author of some thirty books on sport. Specialist of football, he has notably contributed to the monthly So Foot, the daily newspaper Libération and the website of Radio France Internationale. For the past ten years he has followed several major international competitions as a special correspondent.

